Talented duo so close to making it to TV final...

THIS is the moment a dance teacher from Luton was about to perform a magical water tank escape on Britain's Got Talent – but it wasn't enough to save her from being voted off.

Karen Tomkins, along with her partner-in-crime Dave Penn, were dumped out at the semi-final stage of the ITV show on Tuesday night by the judges, despite receiving a standing ovation from the audience.

She told Luton on Sunday: "It was just incredible – the experience of a lifetime, and on the actual night it didn't feel real at all." ■ Turn to page 2 for more on Karen's experience.

Bank siege sewn up with arrest of two Luton men

TWO men from Luton were arrested after a three-and-a-half-hour bank siege in Watford on Thursday.

Bomb disposal experts were called to the Co-operative bank in the Hertfordshire town to assist dozens of police on the scene.

An explosive device recovered was not 'viable' according to Hertfordshire Constabulary, meaning it was highly unlikely to have exploded.

The two men, both 23, have been arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to steal. The man who was arrested at the scene is a Co-op bank worker. The other, arrested at his Luton home on Thursday night, is unemployed.

In a statement Chief Inspector Mike Pryce said: "We now move into a stage where a full investigation will be required. This will be led by Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire Major Crime Unit."

Herts Detective Superintendent Michael Hanlon said: "We would like to reassure the public that there is no suggestion at all that this was linked in any way to terrorist activity."

Anger over second wife led to bomb hoax alert

BY HAZEL SLADE

editor@lsnmedia.com

A MOTHER-OF-FOUR who told police her husband's second wife was carrying a bomb into Heathrow Airport was simply 'making mischief', a court has heard.

Salma Nasir, 42, of Chaul End Village, Caddington, also told officers she believed the woman, known only as Camille, had been involved in the London 7/7 bombings after claiming she had received a string of anonymous phone calls.

However, District Judge Carolyn Mellanby told the mother during her trial at Bedford Magistrates' Court on Wednesday that she had been 'causing mischief' after discovering her husband had taken his long-time mistress as a second wife, which is permitted under Islamic Law.

Mrs Nasir – who has four sons aged between nine and 22 and completed a masters degree last year – moved to England after marrying her husband Dr Mohammed Nasir, an anaesthetist at Luton & Dunstable Hospital, 25 years ago despite her family's disapproval.

She pleaded not guilty to making the hoax call, which did not result in any delays to flight on June 26 last year.

Mrs Nasir called the police just after 10.30am claiming she had received a number of calls from an unknown man the previous day telling her Camille was planning to take a bomb onto a flight from Heathrow at 9.50pm that day.

However, in her defence Mrs Nasir claimed her husband had divorced Camille on the same evening as she received the calls.

Mrs Nasir told the court that under Islamic Law if someone says they 'divorce' you three times, you are no longer married, and she produced a scrap of paper signed by her husband saying 'I divorce, divorce, divorce Camille'.

She said: "All night I couldn't sleep because I didn't know whether to ring or not. Then I decided to ring because about 400 lives could be in danger.

"I'm not stupid. I knew what I needed to do to save these passengers. That is my only intention.

"They told me on the phone she was involved in the London bus bombings.

"I love my husband. I did not think of her because she was out of my life. He had divorced her."

However, prosecutor Jim Davis put to the court that Mrs Nasir had in fact just found the flight tickets for Dr Nasir and Camille's trip, after her husband had told her he was making a solo business visit to France, and out of anger had made the call.

He said: "This is in effect a lady trying to make trouble. Her motive would be that her husband has taken a second wife. This was a hoax."

District Judge Mellanby found Mrs Nasir guilty and ordered her to pay £965 in costs and fines.

She said: "I don't believe you Mrs Nasir. I am certain that day you were out to cause mischief.

"You certainly have a motive. You're an intelligent woman. I am at a loss to believe your story. I am sure you regret it now."

Luton on Sunday visited Dr Nasir at the family home. Dr Nasir said: "We don't want to comment. It's a very personal matter."

Talent judges end double act's 'magical' experience

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN ILLUSIONIST from Luton performed a water tank escape in front of millions of people this week.

Karen Tomkins, 28, was 'born and bred' in the town and performs in double act 'Dave and Karen Illusionists' with David Penn.

The pair were booted off the show by the judges after getting into the final three of the semi-final. As New Bounce were put through on the public vote, it was between them and musician Jean Martyn, but the judges unanimously voted for the keyboard player.

Dance teacher Karen said: "It was the experience of a lifetime, I would never of had the opportunity to do it if it wasn't for David.

"We were planning to do the World Championship for Magic next year but we saw Britain's Got Talent and just thought 'let's do it'.

"It was an amazing experience. We are still looking to compete and represent the UK at the championship next year and that is what we are really working towards now.

"There may be some work for us off the back of this as we were the only magic illusion act on the show. Magicians don't usually get very far in the show so we had to up our game and kick butt.

"I have been doing magic since I was little. When it comes to it, if something is given away then it all goes wrong. You have to get the timing right.

"I had to keep telling myself to keep breathing, my heart was pounding, but I needed to be able to breathe regularly as I was under water.

"People don't think I was actually in the water but I came out soaking wet.

IT'S A KIND OF MAGIC:
Karen Tomkins and David Penn

"It was quite scary as David was supposed to be doing what I did but he had an injury so I had to do it."

The overall winner of the series was announced during last night's show.

Cops too 'stretched' to deal with Hatters fans arrest inquiries

POLICE still cannot confirm how many of the eight arrests made at Luton Town play-off final last month were Hatters fans.

At the match against AFC Wimbledon, which Luton Town lost on penalties, Greater Manchester Police arrested eight people for a variety of different reasons.

There were arrests for public order offences, being drunk and disorderly and criminal damage. Some were given on-the-spot fines, and one was bailed pending further investigations.

But on Friday the Manchester force were still unable to say how many were Luton fans, with the exception of one, because their media relations officer were too 'stretched' to deal with it.

Last week a Greater Manchester Police spokeswoman said: "There were eight arrests from a mixture of both sets of fans, but we don't know how it exactly breaks down.

"One of the criminal damage arrests was a Luton Town fan. We know that because the officer saw them come out of their end. Most of them were dealt with by a fixed penalty notice, one was bailed.

"We (the media relations office) are extremely stretched. The officer I need to speak to is not in and another has kindly dealt with it but he is not going to be able to deal with the exact figures and break it down. We just simply don't know which fans were arrested."

When we followed up our inquiry this week, a force spokesman on Friday added: "To be honest it is just me in the office and I have got a lot of things to do and I don't know where to start for this."

Luton on Sunday made attempts to contact Hatters' chief executive Gary Sweet but he did not return our calls.

Richard Howitt
MEP

MEP speaks up for British cucumbers

LUTON'S Euro MP has spoken out in defence of 'great British cucumbers' after the outbreak of the deadly E. coli bacteria across the continent.

Richard Howitt MEP is concerned sales of locally-grown salad goods could be hit unnecessarily after the Health Protection Agency urged people to wash their salad as it was confirmed seven people in the UK had been infected. So far 17 people have died in Germany. Bedfordshire helps the East of England region to produce around 80 million cucumbers a year, according to the Cucumber Growers Association.

Mr Howitt said: "Although I accept expert advice that this is the biggest ever outbreak of its kind, there is every reason to avoid the sort of panic in Britain that has been seen in Germany and beyond.

"All of the infections in Britain are among people who have eaten infected food in Germany before travelling back here.

"Today's advice to wash your salad is good practice at any time and it is very important people aren't scared off eating good Bedfordshire fruit and veg.

"Fresh cucumbers are actually very good for your health, providing a very good source of vitamins A, C, and folic acid.

"I would encourage customers to look out for the Union Jack Flag to show the cucumbers are grown in the UK and the Red Tractor logo which means the veg was produced on a well-managed farm that has been independently inspected to achieve high standards of food safety, hygiene and environmental protection."

Luton Borough Cllr Mohammed Ashraf said: "During the summer months, most of us tend to eat more fruit and vegetables. It is always important to remove germs or chemical deposits by washing all fruit and vegetables before eating. Peeling or cooking also helps. So please don't risk a serious stomach upset which can even lead to death with nasty bugs like E.coli."

Jobseekers told to be vigilant over employment scams

TRADING standards officers are warning the jobless to be on their guard after a sharp rise in illegal scams.

Luton Borough Council's team are investigating three different swindle operations where victims are being forced to hand over money for what they believe is either computer help, a loan or aid with finding a job.

In all cases, what is promised is not delivered and victims, who usually are unemployed and so may be struggling financially, are left without the service they believed they were paying for.

Stephen Dibble, leader of the consumer support team at the council, said: "Because of the economic situation at the moment, we have seen a rise in scams being reported both nationally and locally. At the moment, we have three investigations ongoing into either scams that are operating in Luton or targeting people in Luton.

"One is the computer access scam where you will get a phone call from someone saying they are from Microsoft or something similar and say they have received an error report and need to access your computer remotely and then you have to pay £80 or £90.

"We have got one in Luton which uses an address which is completely false.

"In other cases, people have been asked to pay £350 to get an advance on a loan and of course they never receive the loan. In another, the advance fee employment scam people are paying £450 for what they think will be uniforms etc for a job and there is no job.

"This is worrying as there are so many people who are unemployed who may fall victim to something like that.

"There have been cases reported to us when in the computer scam they have been told if they don't pay the money they will not give them access back to their computer. In effect they are black-mailing them.

"The main thing we are telling people is to be more vigilant and never send money to a stranger."

If you think you have been a victim of a scam, or have been targeted, contact Consumer Direct on 0845 4040 506.

Gun and knife crime shock as figures show one a day

EXCLUSIVE

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

GUN or knife crimes have been committed in Luton at the rate of nearly one a day over the last six years, according to shocking statistics released this week.

Weapons used in the 2,139 incidents in the town since April 2005 include machetes, bayonets, a machine gun, swords, daggers, electric stun guns, Stanley knives, meat cleavers, shotguns, rifles and semi-automatic handguns.

The figures, released through a Freedom of Information request, show there have been 356 knife or gun crimes a year on average, mostly in connection with offences such as robbery, assault and threatening behaviour.

Of the most serious offences, there have been nine murders using the weapons with one gun killing. There have been 28 attempted murders, 16 of which involved guns.

Other crimes which have used these types of weapons include robbery, actual bodily harm, threats to kill, criminal damage and possession of firearms with intent.

Liberal Democrat Luton Cllr David Franks said: "One a day is quite shocking. People could just be carrying knives and I am not suggesting some knife and gun crime are less serious than others but it is worrying.

"The initial thought would be that you would expect there to be more crime of all kinds in Luton as it is by far the biggest town in the county."

Councillor
David

Many instances resulted in either slight injuries or the weapons – which also included knives, single shot handguns, BB guns, razors, revolvers, air weapons, automatic handguns, sawn-off shotguns, kitchen knives, air pistols, flick knives and pen knives – were used as a threat. Dunstable has had 258 such crimes in the last six years, just 12 per cent of the Luton total, while Houghton Regis has had 110.

In total, across the county 3,858 incidents have occurred since 2005.

A police spokeswoman said: "We have a unit that is specifically set up to deal with gun crime which is based within the Serious and Organised Crime Team, with part of its remit to prevent crimes involving guns.

"We do also try to work with young people via schools and youth offending programmes to ensure they understand the consequences of carrying weapons – particularly knives which are of course quite freely available in a domestic setting.

"In the past, we have brought young people to meet members of the armed response units so they understand what can happen if they are reported carrying a real, imitation or BB gun, and how officers are also trained to respond in an armed capacity to those reports of people carrying knives or other bladed weapons.

"However, while of course these crimes are very serious, it's also important to keep the level of knife and gun crime in Bedfordshire in proportion.

"It is extremely rare for someone to be injured with a knife or gun, and injuries involving these weapons formed less than one percent of all the crimes that we record during any year."

Grenade not illegal so football fan is cleared

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

WHEN police found a military smoke grenade in a van parked near Luton football ground before a match where trouble was anticipated, the area was cordoned off and firearms experts called in.

But Kieron Ray, of Northall Road, Eaton Bray, walked free from Luton Crown Court on Thursday after a judge ruled the item found in his Transit van was not legally a prohibited weapon.

Faraz Benlamkadem, prosecuting, said police thought the van had been abandoned in Rowan Close, Luton.

When officers saw the grenade on the front seat, the area was cordoned off, and firearms officers were alerted.

Mr Ray, 23, was contacted as the registered owner of the van and he came to the area about an hour later.

He said he had parked the van out of town and caught a bus in to watch the game.

Bomb expert Sergeant Roger Smith told the jury that smoke grenades were only used in military situations – usually as a smokescreen. They did not contain toxic or harmful chemicals.

For it to meet the requirements of the charge brought under the Firearms Act, it would have to be designed to discharge a noxious substance.

Mr Ray pleaded not guilty to possessing a prohibited weapon on August 24 last year, when Luton were playing Newport County.

The jury were directed to find him not guilty even before the prosecution case had ended.

Mr Ray had always denied knowledge of the grenade, and also claimed he had parked the van elsewhere and it had been moved.

He said when he saw the green grenade he thought it was a flask used by a Polish workmate he had given a lift to.

Judge John Bevan QC said the smoke grenade was normally used on a battlefield to emit smoke as a signal or as a smokescreen for troops.

Dial-a-Ride steps in to save uneconomic bus route

AN agreement has been reached to provide a bus service on a route that was ended to save money.

Central Bedfordshire Council stopped running the 34 service to Salters Way, Dunstable in March because it 'did not provide value for money'.

But as of July 25 there will be a Route 71 service between Dunstable Town Centre and Salters Way, Sunbower Avenue and Suncote Avenue provided by the not-for-profit South Beds Dial-a-Ride scheme, via Leighton Buzzard and Dunstable travelling through Eaton Bray and Totternhoe.

It will go to and from Dunstable four times a day and will also provide a link from the villages to Leighton Buzzard on days when the ordinary bus service does not run.

The new route will run on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays as a normal bus service with passengers paying the driver. Free passes will be accepted.

Cllr Brian Spurr said: "We are mindful of the needs of the elderly and people without their own transport living in this area, and we have been looking for a community transport solution."

Dial-a-Ride coordinator Dave Barratt said: "We have been talking to Central Bedfordshire for some time about providing services in places where conventional bus services are no longer commercially viable."

Rebecca's five-month wait to get to the root of tooth pain

EXCLUSIVE

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

A WOMAN with a fear of going to the dentist claims to have been waiting five months to have root canal treatment on the NHS.

Carer Rebecca Clark, 30, was told in January by her dentist at Houghton Regis Dental Centre, in High Street, that she would need to undergo the treatment, but says she has been 'left in agony' ever since.

As she finds trips to the dentist unsettling, Miss Clark (pictured) has to see an anaesthetist in Leagrave and has been trying to get an appointment sooner but claims she has been told each time that there are no dates until later this month.

The mum, who lives in Flitwick, has had to take regular medication to prevent her daily pain and said: "It is really taking the Mickey now. Six months I have been waiting for my tooth to be done. And now they are saying I can't have anything done until June 25. I have been in agony, I have had to go to see the doctor to get antibiotics just to get something to tide me over. It's a joke.

"I have to go to Leagrave to be knocked out but they said the anaesthetist isn't going to be there until later in the month.

"I've phoned so many times to see if I can get in quicker, I've even been to different dentists but they won't accept me, but each time they tell me they haven't got anything.

Barbara Patrick, practice manager at Leagrave Sedation Clinic, said: "It is a long wait to see the oral surgeon, there is nothing else we can do. We do have cancellations and, when we do, we go down the list and phone people to say an appointment has come up.

"Miss Clark has not contacted us. Some people phone up every day.

"We have an NHS dentist and a private one and their waiting lists are completely different. Obviously the NHS is more busy."

Following Luton on Sunday's inquiries this week, Leagrave Sedation Clinic on Friday contacted Miss Clark and offered her an appointment to have her treatment done yesterday.

Disabled forum the latest victim of axe

EXCLUSIVE

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

A FORUM which allows disabled people to discuss their concerns has been scrapped.

Luton Borough Council's Disability Advisory and Access Forum was axed in April at its last meeting, but as yet there is no plan to engage with it in the future.

The 20-strong group advised the council to help to improve living, working and travel issues for the disabled in the town.

In the forum agenda for April's meeting it said there were plans to create a new 'framework' to incorporate its services, but there are no concrete plans as to how that would work.

In January free transport provided by the council to disabled over-50s was cut by the council to save money.

Mick Dillon, chief executive of Disability Resource Centre, based in Poynters Road, Dunstable, used to be chairman of the forum.

He said: "The council needs a way for disabled people, their families, and carers to still be engaged with it so they can comment on issues."

"In the current climate and when there are so many changes going on and local authorities' social services face huge reform, there needs to be an opportunity for those concerns to be raised in a reasonable replacement to the forum."

A council spokeswoman said: "We are working closely with key partners to develop a new approach to give more local residents a voice, including those with disabilities, in line with the model discussed at the last meeting of the Disability and Access Forum, and we are aiming to have this in place later in the year."

LuDun factory's contents going under the hammer

ALL 250 items from a disabled workers factory which was closed recently are being sold off in an auction.

The LuDun workshop in Liscombe Road, Dunstable, was shut down on May 25 by Central Bedfordshire Council in a bid to save £300,000 and all its 24 employees lost their jobs.

Even after it had been closed down, it had been hoped by some, including Luton North MP Kelvin Hopkins, the factory may still be saved.

But on auction website www.i-bidder.com Central Bedfordshire Council will put all of the factory's contents up for sale starting on Tuesday, from the worktops and machinery, to the first aid box and Fire Exit signs.

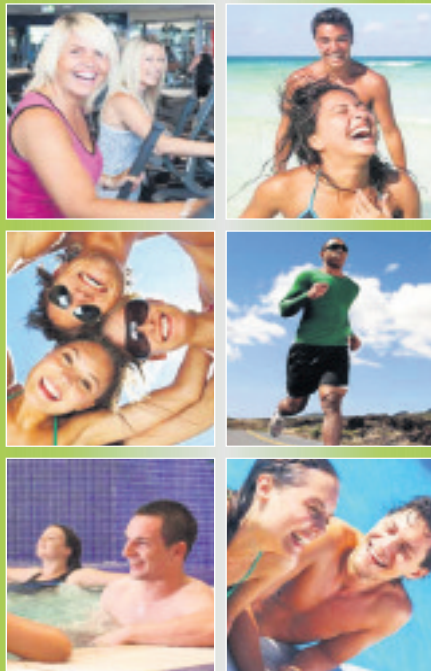

GMB senior organiser Warren Kenny said: "As I look at the machinery on auction from LuDun, which up until so recently was operated by skilled disabled workers, I can't help blaming Central Beds for wasting the valuable contribution these workers made to our community."

Central Beds councillor Peter Hollick, a trustee of LuDun, was asked how much money the trustees were hoping to get from the auction.

He said: "We are hoping to have enough to cover ongoing costs and to put forward into the kitty for the future benefit of disabled people."

"There is a viewing at the LuDun building tomorrow between 9am-5pm."

A needless expense

SIR - In regard to the annual £21,442 payout for Cllrs Tricia Turner MBE and Richard Stay I would like to make sure that people understand that this money is not coming from council tax.

As a member of the public I feel that Cllr Turner is the only person who is needed to assist the current Central Bedfordshire Council leader James Jamieson in his new role.

Cllr Turner was leader of Central Bedfordshire Council for two years and she did an absolutely fantastic job.

As such, there is no need to involve Cllr Stay at more expense. Surely one advisor is more than adequate?

The money that will be saved by not involving Cllr Stay will be, over a four-year period, some £42,884 which could help young people in Central Bedfordshire, ie re-introducing Connections as well as the Music Service or possibly saving the Sports and Leisure Centre in Biggleswade.

EDL waste our money

SIR - It is always disappointing to see that the English Defence League has been causing havoc again in the town.

How much of our, the taxpayers', money have they wasted on their pointless protests? Getting a group of them together outside a pub to chant and boo foreign dignitaries is completely distasteful.

What a bad image of the town to leave all those MEPs with. Even the fact they had to have so many police there to make sure nothing kicked off is bad enough.

I am sure the officers have better things to do than stand around and waste their time chaperoning EDL members.

While everyone is entitled to freedom of speech and the right to protest, many people do it without wasting everyone in the town's money.

As I walked past the protest last week, I couldn't help but notice small children who had been taken there by their parents. To me that is even more disrespectful.

Conspiracy theorist?

SIR - I am not quite sure what to make of these 'Facebook chats' the county's chief constable has been doing with people recently.

I guess if it allows people who wouldn't normally take an interest in police activities and concerns then that is a good thing. And to open up a debate about such issues is also important.

However, there does seem to always be a few who are there just to cause havoc and ask stupid questions.

But, how do we know it is really him? With all the talk in the media about only talking to people you know for definite are real, then what proof is there that he is the one actually answering the questions?

Obviously, I do not think there is anything sinister going on, but maybe the police could provide us with some proof that he is there answering the questions.

LuDun closure critic comes under fire

SIR - I find myself responding once again to Warren Kenny's assertions around the closure of LuDun.

Nowhere does he acknowledge that Luton Borough Council has withdrawn funding. Neither does he acknowledge a certain lack of interest from former Labour and Luton trustees or the lack of foresight of his GMB Union to come to the table earlier.

Neither does he accept the wisdom of others who have assisted the council and trustees, including a disability group, all of whom have clearly stated that LuDun was no longer, and had not been for some time, a viable proposition, and that LuDun was no longer able to meet the needs of those working there in accordance with the last Government's and this, updated concept of supported employment.

He is content with railing against the 'Central Beds Tories' which makes it clear that he is taking a political stance, one which will not help the former employees of LuDun, who are getting excellent support from Central Bedfordshire Council and others.

Had the GMB representatives been on the ball and recognised reality they would have co-operated with the trustees years ago when the writing was on the wall for LuDun and all but closed by the then Bedfordshire County Council. Unfortunately his intervention, with a good idea, came far too late in the process.

The trustees aim to assist disabled people generally with monies they will eventually receive from the sale of the premises.

Meanwhile, on a separate issue, I have noted with interest the 'debate' as to whether or not Luton should be able to 'claim' city status.

Where did they launch their campaign? Luton Hoo. And where is Luton Hoo situated - in the administrative area of Central Bedfordshire, not within Luton's administrative boundary. Was there nowhere suitable in Luton to instigate their claim for city status?

Central Bedfordshire
Cllr Peter Hollick
Carlisle Close, Dunstable
LuDun Trustee

Luton has positives

SIR - I am writing in response to the letter from Charlie Cromwell highlighted on the letters page in last week's Luton on Sunday.

I feel that I must disagree with his rather negative perspective on our town.

There are lots of good things about Luton. We may not all agree about what they are, because we are all different individuals (some will have enjoyed the carnival, others may have preferred to visit the flower festival in Hexton), but there is lots to do in Luton and lots to be thankful for.

Maybe you have always lived in Luton, or like me, you may have moved to Luton for affordable housing, for which I am very grateful.

Most of us have somewhere to live, and friends or family to share life with, so let us try to be thankful for all these blessings.

Meningitis challenge

SIR - As an Olympian and patron of Meningitis UK, I would like to challenge your readers to do something incredible to help save lives from this killer disease.

The charity has two exciting events coming up involving the highest mountains in both Africa and Great Britain.

Both seasoned walkers and brave novices can sign up for either the Three Peaks Challenge in August or a slightly more awe-inspiring climb up Mount Kilimanjaro in January 2012.

The Three Peaks Challenge, between August 5 and 7, involves conquering the three highest peaks in the home nations - Ben Nevis in Scotland and Scafell Pike in England before finishing triumphantly at the top of Mount Snowdon in Wales, all within 24 gruelling hours.

The trip of a lifetime to Mount Kilimanjaro takes place from January 12 to 22 and covers a variety of diverse terrains, from jungle to volcanic craters, en route to the picturesque snow-capped Uhuru peak - the highest point in Africa at 5,895m high. The challenges, called The Big Climb and The Big Trek, promise to push participants to the limit while helping to raise funds towards eradicating meningitis.

Thousands of people die from the disease each year and taking part in a charity challenge is one of the ways in which people can help raise money towards finding a vaccine.

I fell ill with meningitis and meningococcal septicaemia when I was 15, which left me in a coma for three days.

Thankfully, I was lucky to pull through and be able to go on to achieve my sailing dreams.

With your help, Meningitis UK will be able to beat this disease and spare thousands of families the heartache of losing a loved one in the future.

To find out more about these exciting challenges, visit www.meningitisuk.org, email toya.champ@meningitisuk.org or call Toya on 0117 302 6191.

Have faith in internet

SIR - Speaking from personal experience, I know that starting a business is never easy, and in an increasingly digital world there's a whole new virtual realm for entrepreneurs to bear in mind.

The internet is estimated to be worth £100bn to the UK's economy and has opened up new opportunities for large and small businesses alike.

So I was surprised to hear about recent research which found that small businesses in Britain still aren't making the most of the internet to boost their growth, with only 2.4 per cent of their total turnover being generated by online revenues.

For many companies fears about security can prevent them from making the most of the internet, but businesses in the South East shouldn't let this hold them back. I've been working with security giant, Symantec recently to educate small businesses on how to manage and protect the information they depend on to run and grow their business.

The key is ensuring that adequate security software is in place, which completely protects all information. Backing up information, both on and offline, will also ensure that, in the event of any internal failures, businesses can be up and running again quickly. With the right knowledge and tools in place, entrepreneurs can realise the benefits of the internet as a tool to grow their business without falling foul of the risks that it poses.

Help keep dogs safe

SIR - As part of National Microchipping Month this month, the Microchipping Alliance is calling on the Government to introduce compulsory microchipping for all dogs in the UK. Microchipping is the most effective way of ensuring lost dogs are returned to their owners. However, of the 8.2 million pet dogs currently in the UK, more than a third remain unidentifiable.

In 2010 local authorities took in more than 121,000 stray dogs. Dealing with these dogs cost an estimated £2.9 million of taxpayers' money.

If more dogs were microchipped, more could be returned to their owners and the cost to local authorities should be vastly reduced. Of those dogs taken in by local authorities last year, 6,404 were put to sleep. Compulsory microchipping would also mean fewer dogs lose their lives unnecessarily.

We consider that the time is right for the Government to make permanent identification mandatory and urge ministers to recognise the importance of this issue.

Chief Executive of Dogs Trust and Chair of Microchipping Alliance

Promoting adoption

SIR - As an adoptive mum I feel passionately about adoption and want to help more children in care to find a family.

That's why I signed up as an Adoption Champion for the British Association for Adoption & Fostering (BAAF). Could you be an Adoption Champion too?

Following the success of BAAF's Adoption Champion Scheme for National Adoption Week 2010, they are looking for more adoption experienced people to join their already fantastic team of volunteers for this year's campaign.

They need both adoptive parents and adopted people to spread the word about adoption.

It could be something as simple as putting up a poster; giving a talk at a coffee morning or sharing your story through the media.

Hearing your personal experience could inspire someone to take that first step to giving a vulnerable child a loving, secure, permanent family, which every child deserves.

Anyone over 18 with experience of adoption can sign up to the scheme, with most activities taking place during National Adoption Week (October 31-November 6).

Special school merger plans given go-ahead

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

FORMAL consultations are to begin after councillors agreed to merge three special schools in the Dunstable and Houghton Regis area.

This would see Glenwood, Hillcrest and Weatherfield combining to create an Area Special School for south Central Bedfordshire operating across the existing three sites.

Prior to the council's executive meeting on Tuesday, Weatherfield School announced its intention to apply for Academy status. Should Weatherfield be granted Academy status, the executive will consider proposals to proceed with a merger of Glenwood and Hillcrest schools.

The proposals centre on expanding Glenwood School and closing Hillcrest and Weatherfield schools.

Glenwood already co-ordinates support for pupils in mainstream schools and is categorised as 'out-standing' by Ofsted.

Statutory notices outlining the proposed changes for each school will be published next month, inviting responses over a six-week period. These will be fed back to executive councillors in August and if approved the new school would open at the latest in September 2012, and in April 2012 if possible.

Cllr Mark Versallion said: "Our over-riding concern is to meet the needs of children and young people, particularly those with complex needs.

"The outcomes for these children are always likely to be better if they can go to school close to home and their families can remain involved.

"We fully recognise that any proposed change is naturally worrying for those affected.

"I hope that families and staff will be reassured by the success of Ivel Valley Area Special School which opened last September in the east of Central Bedfordshire.

"We are keen to repeat the success here and to safeguard and strengthen special educational provision in the south of our area.

"I would also reassure people that should the proposal go ahead we will do everything we can to make the change as smooth as possible for the children and their families and ensure there is no impact on the quality of education and provision."

POLICE are looking for a man with a distinctive teardrop tattoo under his left eye in relation to an attempted robbery.

A woman was walking alone in the direction of Hartley Road, Luton, last Saturday night when she became aware of some movement in nearby bushes at the junction of Hitchin Road and Jubilee

Police search for teardrop tattoo bag raider

Street. A man then emerged, at about 9.20pm, and grabbed the strap of the woman's handbag. He made several attempts to pull the bag from her which caused the strap to break.

He ran off empty handed. The victim, who was very shaken but not hurt, described the man as mixed race, aged between 25-26 and about six foot tall and of slim build.

He was wearing a grey woolly hat and a white hooded top with red sleeves, with the word 'ECHO' written in grey on the left side of the top close to where the hood joined the body part of the material. There was also a picture of a rhino under the word 'ECHO'.

Witnesses can call 01582 394145.

Get kids a jab to curb fatal measles threat

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

HEALTH experts are urging parents to get their children vaccinated against measles as they are 'at risk of infection'.

Many in Luton and Bedfordshire have not been fully vaccinated against the potentially fatal disease, and this week the Health Protection Agency revealed there have been 334 confirmed cases between January and April in England and Wales, compared with 374 for the whole of 2010.

Measles is a highly infectious and potentially dangerous illness, which causes a range of symptoms including fever, coughing and red-brown spots on the skin. It can also lead to complications which can be very serious and even fatal.

This year under-25s have been most affected, and Kelly O'Neill, head of immunisation at NHS Luton, said: "The most effective way of preventing measles is the Measles, Mumps and Rubella (MMR) vaccine."

"However, many children across Bedfordshire and Luton have not been fully vaccinated against measles and are therefore at risk of infection."

"The vaccine is very safe and effective and a course of two vaccinations is required. All children should have received two vaccinations by the age of five years to be fully protected."

"If you or your child has not been fully vaccinated then you should contact your GP surgery and arrange an appointment for vaccination."

Most cases have so far occurred in London and the South East, so while there has not been an increase in cases in the Luton area specifically, parents are being advised to make sure their children are vaccinated as a precaution.

Dr Lilley, of Beds and Herts Health Protection Unit, said: "Although MMR vaccination uptake has improved over the last few years, we cannot stress enough that measles is serious."

"Measles is still one of the top infectious disease killers of children worldwide and unless we improve vaccination levels and get children fully vaccinated we risk an outbreak of measles in this country and children may die as a consequence."

Partnership canvasses businesses over effective support

BUSINESSES are being asked to fill in a questionnaire to tell councils about issues they face in order to support long-term economic growth in the area.

Central Bedfordshire, Bedford Borough, Luton Borough councils and the East of England Development Agency have together launched the survey – being undertaken independently by BMG research – which covers issues such as company performance, customer base and supplier locations.

The three councils will also be contacting hundreds of businesses by phone to collect further information.

A full report will be collated by Central Beds' Economic Growth & Regeneration team and recommendations for supporting growth across the county will be put forward.

Bedfordshire businesses are being asked to visit <https://surveys.bmgresearch.co.uk/surveys/008473> and fill in the survey before 5.30pm on June 20.

From a bobby on the

FOR many police officers, escorting criminals back to the station is a familiar job. But one former bobby, who was a traffic man in Luton in the 1980s and an Inspector in the town until 2006, has taken the task to another level in a new business venture. Reporter ADAM THOMPSON speaks to the former Bedfordshire Police Inspector who only plans on taking those in the back seat of his car to the airport instead of a trip to the cells.

WHEN Chris Sapsford retired from Bedfordshire Police in November last year he did so with 14 years of experience in the traffic division under his belt.

Now rather than pursuing criminals the 55-year-old is chasing his dream of success in business after setting up his new private hire service - Shuttlecraft.

The Amptill family man simply says: “Driving is in my blood.” He added: “My Dad owned a small haulage business in Dunstable in the 1960s. I think his business gave me the impetus to do like wise.

“I spent just under half my of 33-year service in the county's police working as a ‘traffic man’ which is one of the best jobs in the force.

“In that time, I had to escort VIPs including former Prime ministers Tony Blair and John Major and also Tina Turner when she visited Woburn and even Mr Bobby when he went to Bedford.”

Mr Sapsford's time as a ‘traffic man’ was sandwiched between a start in the police force in 1977, which saw him driving the iconic panda patrol cars and a promotion in the 1990s where he served as a sergeant and inspector.

He then moved into looking after day-to-day policing in Bedford, Amptill and Biggleswade and spent his final few years as a senior officer at the headquarters in Kempston.

In April, he started his private hire business along with his family, something he said he would do since retiring and that he realised it could either turn out to be a success or ‘an expensive hobby’.

He said: “Having finally left the police after nearly 33 years, I wanted to try to go my own way being self employed.

“I still enjoy driving and using the skills gained in my time with the police. Also with my two sons, Dale and Luke, I hope to create an opportunity for them to become involved, once the business is established. It's a real family affair. My youngest daughter Claire, helped set up our website and the eldest, Leanne, helps me out at exhibitions."

Mr Sapsford said that despite retiring months ago, he soon got itchy feet for a new venture. He added: "I didn't start up to compete with other private hire firms for trips down the market or shops."

"In the years leading up to retirement, I wanted to continue driving and I liked the idea of a middle ground with something that was better than private hire and between chauffeuring. That's when I came up with the idea of Shuttlecraft."

Having identified a need for a high quality 'club class' travel and needing a 'special' vehicle Mr Sapsford chose a Volkswagen Transporter Shuttle which was converted to have limousine-styled specifications.

The vehicle boasts an iPod docking system so passengers can play their own music while travelling and offers to update clients on traffic situations prior to any journey.

The former policeman said: "We do not cater for regular local 'nights-out' or trips to the shops.

ON YER BIKE: Chris Sapsford on his police motorcycle

That market is already well catered for. Ours is a reserved service for those special journeys.

"Prom nights, trips to Silverstone for the F1 or Moto GP, airport transfers those kind of things. What we're offering is executive travel for those who have to travel that bit further."

So will he be tempted to tell a few tales from his days on the beat?

"Well I have three decades worth of stories and some tales but I think our clients will be reassured that they're going to be driven by a professional from the police for almost 15 years."

Shopkeeper's jaw broken in vicious attack by gang

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

A SIXTY-YEAR-OLD newsagent had to have surgery after his jaw was broken and he had teeth knocked out in a nasty attack.

The victim was sorting out papers for delivery in QH News, in Marsh Road, Luton, just before 6am on Sunday.

He was in the shop on his own and a number of men entered the store without him noticing. He was hit on the back of the neck, causing him to fall on the floor, where the robbers continued to punch, kick and hit him as they asked where the money was. They left the store, previously known as SJS, in an unknown direction, taking with them £9,000 along with phone top-up cards and cigarettes. The store owner was found by a customer calling at the shop shortly afterwards.

He needed surgery at Luton & Dunstable Hospital on his broken jaw. He also had several teeth knocked out and some removed during surgery and has severe facial bruising.

She said: "This man was on his own in the shop and was completely defenceless as he was attacked by a number of men. The level of violence meted out to him was particularly excessive.

"We'd like to hear from anyone who was in the area, saw anything suspicious or has information about this incident."

The man has been unable to give officers a detailed description of the attackers because of the extensive injuries and subsequent medical treatment.

Detective Constable Emma Morgan is keen to hear from anyone who may have seen the shopkeeper or anyone else in the shop beforehand. Contact DC Morgan on 01582 394140 or call Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Police officers give Scouts an insight into life

SCOUTS teamed up with young police officers on a joint patrol.

The unique patrol started at Leagrave Primary School, in Strangers Way, Luton, and gave the scouts an opportunity to study the environment in which they live and find out what everyday issues are experienced by the community.

They were joined by the youngest members of Bedfordshire Police on Monday as a number of Volunteer Police Cadets also took part. The joint exercise was the first in Bedfordshire under a new partnership between the Scouts and police, and enabled the group to achieve their Community Challenge Award.

I HEARD an economist on the radio this week saying that we do not have a God-given right to own our own home.

While this is obviously true, it equally obviously misses entirely the point – something of a habit for economists.

Since the Second World War the consistent drive of this country was one of progress and improvement. This was especially the case for ordinary working people.

Whether it was health care, education, working conditions, pensions and retirement, home improvements or homes themselves, it was always onwards and upwards.

It made no difference which party was in charge, as both Conservatives and Labour vied to improve the lot of the common man – and woman.

Owning your own home, along with white goods, a car and taking a foreign holiday became a dream made real for most ordinary working folk.

This improvement, and recognition that it helped stability, by showing that Liberal Democracy works for all, carried through until this decade.

Even Margaret Thatcher recognised this and won over many working class voters with the policy of selling them their council houses.

Symbolically, people could choose the colour of their front door. In perception, if not fact, we mainly saw ourselves as middle class and all our isms became wasms. If not part of the property owning class we became a class that owned property.

Dreams in danger of just fading away

Now all of that looks like disappearing, which will have unpleasant consequences that could become dangerous.

The economist was saying that a lot more people will spend their lives renting their home instead of buying it and that is just life so get on with it.

But it breaks both the cycle of self-improvement and therefore of inclusion in the state.

And it is not just about owning your own house. Pensions are generally going backwards for lots of people.

The earnings related pension will soon be consigned to history. Education, especially university education, will be denied to a lot more people, as the cost is too great for the parents to bear and the debt too high for the students to risk.

As for the NHS, it is difficult to see what the Government is up to but I doubt it is going to get better.

We now have staycations to look forward to, rather than sun-kissed beaches of foreign climes.

And, of course, Governments and councils will no longer do all the things they used to as cuts bite and certain care services enter crisis.

All of this has quite clear dangers, both to the economy and society. The regression of consumerism will hit our economy hard, in the property sector, the motor industry, the holiday market and in shops and supermarkets generally.

More importantly, the stake people had in society, as they had a slice of the wealth, will become more fractured.

And it's not just a slice but an investment. People are less likely to rebel or go on strike if they have a mortgage to pay and a holiday to look forward to. Maybe we are feeling short term pain for long term gain but politicians – and economists – do not seem to be saying as much.

Furthermore the opposition appear not to have much of a clue either.

There has been an informal pact between the people and government that the people would behave if the government – of whatever stripe – fought to improve the lot of the common man. If that agreement is being quietly ditched, the reaction may not be pretty.

Council to stick with three-tier education

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

THERE will be no change to schooling arrangements in Dunstable and Houghton Regis after a council considered changing to a two-tier system.

Central Bedfordshire Council's executive met on Tuesday to discuss how to raise education standards across the two towns and it was decided to keep the current three-tier system which sees children go from primary to middle to upper schools.

Schools will be encouraged to engage in hard federations, academy chains or trusts with partnerships being developed across phases or throughout schools in the area.

Cllr Mark Versallion, executive member for Children's Services, said: "The executive decision means that the council is supporting and encouraging schools to work more closely together to ensure consistent education through the entire school journey in order to improve outcomes for pupils and students in Dunstable and Houghton Regis.

"By working with headteachers and chairs of governors the review has responded to the changing picture of educational needs both locally and nationally while supporting the principle of locally driven solutions.

"We now need to ensure that school provision meets local needs and plans for future growth and the option agreed by executive provides the best chance for this to happen."

Pizza partners pick up prestigious charity award

THE two owners of a pizza delivery chain have been given an award in recognition of their support for a charity for which their customers raised £5,000.

Domino's Pizza Luton franchisees Arshad and Muj Yasin involved their teams in a fundraiser last summer in aid of the company's national charity, Special Olympics Great Britain.

They offered customers the chance to buy raffle tickets in order to win pizza for a year. All the money raised went to Special Olympics Great Britain.

The brothers run stores across the area, from Henlow to Hatfield, including one in Dunstable and Luton. Arshad said: "Knowing that the money we raised went to offer much needed help to our local Special Olympics club is an award all in itself."

Karen Wallin, chief executive of Special Olympics Great Britain, visited their store in Luton to collect the cheque and she was also at the awards ceremony to present them with their honour.

She said: "Arshad and Muj's support for Special Olympics Great Britain has been invaluable to us as the money they raised went to their local club near Luton."

YOUR HOME MAY BE REPOSSESSED IF YOU DO NOT KEEP UP THE REPAYMENTS ON A MORTGAGE OR ANY OTHER DEBT SECURED ON IT

†You raise a mortgage for 66.5% of the purchase price from a qualifying bank or building society, and pay a 3.5% deposit (more may be required depending on circumstances and your lender's lending criteria). If you qualify for HomeBuy Direct assistance, you can borrow the remaining 30% of the purchase price by taking out loans secured over your new home from each of the Government's Homes & Communities Agency (HCA) and Miller Homes over a period of 25 years. Credit is available subject to status and is provided by two separate secured loans from each of the HCA and Miller Homes Limited. HomeBuy Direct is plot specific and cannot be used in conjunction with any other offer provided by Miller Homes. *Subject to terms and conditions. Lofgren returns with more acrobatic rock

NILS LOFGREN

Alban Arena,
St Albans
Wednesday, 8pm

NILS Lofgren, legendary American songwriter, virtuoso guitarist and pianist, returns to the Alban Arena on Wednesday, on the back of a hugely successful October 2010 tour.

He is famed for his appearance on Neil Young's seminal album 'After The Goldrush', as a long-time member of Bruce Springsteen's E-Street band, and as a superb front-man himself, both with Grin and under his own name.

Known for his world-class guitar-playing, and his on-stage acrobatics, Nils Lofgren is a true rock legend in his own right.

Nils is currently in the studio, working on his next solo album.

On his 2008 album, The Loner - Nils sings Neil, is a tribute to the great Neil Young, while his 2006 album Sacred Weapon features contributions from legends Willie Nelson, David Crosby and Graham Nash, along with a duet with old Grin band-mate Bob Berberich.

Multi-instrumentalist Greg Varlotta will join Nils for an acoustic set which features classic Lofgren tunes like Cry Tough, I Came to Dance, Keith Don't Go and many others from his vast back catalogue.

Tickets cost £28.50 and can be booked by calling the box office on 01727 844488 or online at www.alban-arena.co.uk

God in this absorbing read deserves a pint

REVIEW

THE BILLY FIDGET LETTERS - BY NICK BATTLE AND ERIC DELVE

Hodder, £12.99

WHILE sitting in the green room of Three Counties Radio I bumped into Nick Battle.

Three Counties does not actually have a green room so we stood in reception drinking coffee.

Nick, who hails from Hertfordshire, has been in the music business for 30 years but has recently branched out into writing novels.

His latest novel, The Billy Fidget Letters, has been written in collaboration with Eric Delve, a vicar from Kent.

I said I would happily read a copy, more out of politeness than genuine enthusiasm, as anything that might have a religious connotation is usually enough to put me off.

But a promise is a promise, so while on holiday, overlooking the Cote D'Azur, I sat one afternoon by the pool, shaded by lemon trees and began at the beginning.

Six hours later I had finished the book which had been an absorbing read. It is a series of letters mainly between the feckless, fornicating, eponymous Billy and God.

Billy is in trouble after being caught in the back of a car with a gangster's moll which is the latest in a long line of self inflicted disasters.

As a last resort he seeks help from God, by writing to him. The whole book is an exchange of letters, with God, frankly, playing a little hardball.

Nonetheless it is wittily written, does not preach and, in a relatively slim volume, has plenty of twists and turns, some more believable than others. I thoroughly enjoyed it and it is well worth a read.

If God did exist and he was like he was portrayed in the Billy Fidget Letters, I would buy him a pint.

ALL ABOARD FOR NATIONAL BOOKSTART WEEK

Stockwood Discovery Centre, Luton

Friday, 10am-12pm

CELEBRATE National Bookstart Week with Luton Libraries and join the family fun at Stockwood Discovery Centre on Friday.

The theme 'All Aboard' offers lots of opportunity for some noisy and active stories and rhymes, then follow the transport trail around the museum and discover the different modes of transport people have used over the centuries, from horsedrawn carriages, trams, bicycles and the early motorcars.

You can climb on board the mobile library to borrow some books, and there's also the chance to meet the Bookstart bear, and do some junk modelling.

Bookstart offers the gift of free books to all children at three key ages before they start school to inspire a love of reading that will give children a flying start in life.

The Bookstart scheme is available through your local library, children's centres, pre-schools and nurseries.

Breakfast club – with Heart FM's Stuart and Natalie

IT'S been quite a week for Cheryl Cole. First she is dropped from American X Factor, then it's announced there's no seat for her on the UK show, with Gary Barlow, Kelly Rowland, Louis Walsh and Tulisa Contostavlos from N-Dubz all confirmed as judges.

We spoke to JLS, who were unequivocal in their support for Cheryl.

Ortise said he wanted to give her a "big old hug" when she comes home. He definitely has a soft spot for her!

They also told us about their plans for a boys' holiday with Ollie Murs.

"To celebrate the end of our tour we're going away on a lads' holiday for a few days, it's going to be amazing. It's the first time we've been away with each other together on a non-JLS trip."

And where are they going? "We can't tell you that, somewhere in Asia."

We also caught up with Masterchef judge John Torode and wanted to know which celebs are handy in the kitchen! He told us he reckons Kate Middleton is good around a kitchen.

"I know she's a fan of Masterchef and prior to her wedding she pre-recorded the final of the series to sit down and calm her nerves, it's true!"

"The other thing to remember of course was that Prince William charmed Kate by cooking for her in his flat and she's just as good as him."

He also told us of a brush with the GaGa! "I filmed Have I Got News For You the other week and my dressing room was next door to hers and I saw what she was eating!"

"It was all raw fruit and veg, so while I reckon she would be good in the kitchen, it would very alternative and quite new!"

COMEDY

MILTON JONES - LION WHISPERER

Grove Theatre, Dunstable

November 16, 8pm

MULTI-award-winning Milton Jones, often fondly referred to, mainly by himself, as 'the weird bloke with the shirts from Mock The Week', is back on the road this autumn for yet another extension of his sell-out Lion Whisperer tour.

Star of BBC1's Mock The Week and Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow, and the current holder of the 2011 Chortle Awards Best Headliner accolade, Milton is proving to be one of the UK's brightest comedy stars.

His witty and punchy one-liners are accessible to all ages, making his shows a big hit for the whole family.

Spanning a 15-year career on the UK and international comedy scene, Milton's impressive award accolades and nominations include: 2011 Chortle Awards Best Headliner - Winner, Chortle Awards Best Headliner Nominee - 2010 & 2009, Time Out Best Comedy Award - Winner 2003, Sony Award Winner Bronze - 2000, British Comedy Award - Nomination 1998, Perrier Award - Nomination 1997 & Perrier Best Newcomer - Winner 1996.

As well as sell-out UK tours and international festival appearances Milton has starred in TV and radio shows including eight series of his very own Sony and British Comedy Award winning Radio 4 series - The Very World Of Milton Jones and Another Case Of Milton Jones.

A further ninth series of Another Case Of Milton Jones will be broadcast on Radio 4 this summer.

As well as Mock The Week and Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow, his other television credits include: Comedy Cuts (ITV2), Music Hall Meltdown (BBC4), 28 Acts (BBC3), The World Stands Up (Comedy Channel), The Comedy Store (Channel 5), Bring Me The Head Of Light Entertainment (Channel 5) and The Stand Up Show (BBC1).

Let's all rock the evening away

MUSIC

ROCK 'N' ROLL PARADISE

Alban Arena, St Albans

Thursday, 7.30pm

THIS is a brand new rock 'n' roll show that does exactly what it says on the tin. There's no plot, no storyline, simply a rock 'n' roll show where the music plays the leading role.

The incredibly talented cast bring to life the spirit of the rock 'n' roll era, reminding you at every turn why this music has stood the test of time.

Just try not tapping your foot as Jerry Lee rips into Great Balls of Fire with a passion. Feel the shivers in your spine as Roy Orbison soars gracefully through his classic songs.

Watch with delight as Eddie Cochran and Buddy Holly explode onto the stage like the first guitar-heroes; with slick moves and engaging energy they power through those wonderfully bright optimistic songs of theirs. And that's just the first half.

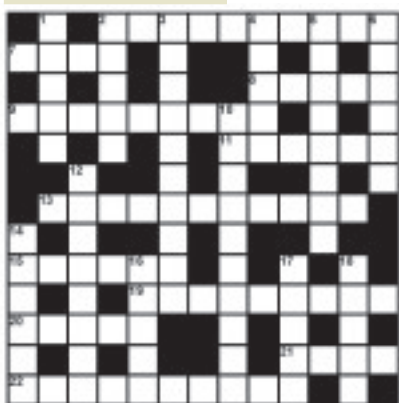

Rock 'n' Roll Paradise is without doubt a must see show and now is your chance to catch it at the Alban Arena on Thursday, bringing a 100 per cent feelgood factor performance.

This show is a spectacular celebration of rock 'n' roll music, performed and enjoyed by the cast so that the audience can participate and take a step back in time to a very special era.

Rock 'n' Roll Paradise is, quite simply, the very, very best.

Tickets cost £17.50, with £1 off for concessions, and can be booked online at www.alban-arena.co.uk or by calling the box office on 01727 844488.

A REAL CAREER PATH

by Tom Lawrence, Taylors Bletchley

"I joined Taylors Estate Agents as a Sales Negotiator in the Bletchley branch back in 2006 with retail background as my only experience. I really wanted to join a company that trains and develops their staff, rewards hard work so it seemed the obvious choice. Within two years I was promoted to Senior Negotiator and then Marketing Manager of the flagship branch in Central Milton Keynes".

"Benefits including a company car and excellent earnings easily in excess of £30,000 were enjoyed in my early years and now 5 years later with two more promotions I am now a Senior Manager back in the office where it all began. Unlike some people, I thoroughly enjoy helping our clients, hitting targets and striving for more rewards which are endless at this company".

If you are not frightened of hard work, long hours, and a real career path with excellent financial rewards you should email me today on manager.bletchley@taylorsestateagents.co.uk or call me on 01908 370861 for a friendly discussion about your potential career.

Experience is not essential but a positive enthusiastic approach and the ability to communicate a high level are crucial. So, if this sounds too good to be true then give me a call, you have absolutely nothing to lose but a career to gain!

Andrew Tate fells an opponent

MARTIAL ARTS

THIS afternoon sees a host of fighters from Storm Gym in Luton battle it out for kickboxing and Mixed Martial Arts (MMA) titles in the town's Liquid and Envy nightclub.

Top of the bill is Andrew 'King Cobra' Tate who is to challenge International Sport Kickboxing Association (ISKA) 81.6kg world champion Jean-Luc Benoit. Tate, who fights out of the New Bedford Road gym, has knocked out everyone in his path over the last four years and is the rightful contender for the Frenchman's title.

Also on the card, Nigel 'Thunderstorm' Thomas will battle Mikey Worswick for his 75kg British title while Luton's former Royal Marine Commando Dale Hardiman will go toe-to-toe with British under 70kg Mixed Martial Arts (MMA) champion Danny Mack, who fights out of the world famous Nak Soo Gym in Northampton and hasn't been beaten for two years.

There is also set to be an all female encounter with Storm's Emma Goodwin getting her first ever title shot against Deb Willmot for the British (50.5kg) K-1 title.

The 65kg ISKA Southern Area title will be fought between Storm's Warren 'Warrior' Kirch and Luke Cronin from East Area Gym in Bedford. Other fighters on the undercard from Storm Gym are Adam 'Punk' Stevens, Matthew 'The Fire' Walker, Matt Gurr, Anthony Edwards and Rhys 'The Beast' Brown.

Doors open at 1pm and the first fight is at 2pm. Tickets are £30 on the door.

MOTORSPORT

STEVE Plater had a weekend to forget in round four of the British Supersport Championship at Thruxton when he crashed out of the feature race on Monday breaking his upper arm.

Plater moved up to fifth in the race but Jack Kennedy slide out of second place, unseen at Church and Plater had the mother of all highsides causing Christian Iddon to bail out as well and bringing out the red flags.

Iddon was OK, but the unfortunate Plater suffered a broken upper left arm in the incident, which required surgery.

He said: "I have no idea what happened, the bike just highsided for no apparent reason. It's the same section of the track that Michael Rutter fell so maybe there is a bump in the track that we both hit."

Plater should have been on a plane to go directly to the Isle of Man TT races where the TT Legends team of John McGuinness and Keith Amor began their practice later that evening but he is hoping to join the team on the Isle of Man as soon as possible.

■ LUTON-BASED Team ES Racing head north this weekend with one clear goal in mind, to finish in the points at today's round of the Dunlop MSA British Touring Car Championship at Oulton Park.

Chris James has fond memories of the Cheshire circuit as he picked up his first win there when he was racing in the MINI challenge series and will be looking to build on his experience of the circuit this weekend in the Chevrolet Lacetti.

"I do like the circuit, especially the island and the full circuit. Oulton Park is quick throughout, it's challenging but I hope to do well there as I have done in the past," said James. "Our ultimate aim is to move forward and score some championship points."

BOXING

LUTON'S former British, Commonwealth and European lightweight and the IBO light welterweight title holder Billy Schwer (pictured standing centre) was at The Academy ABC on New Bedford Road on Thursday as the club's amateur boxers prepared to host their maiden fight night.

Head coach Mark Hofman said: "I'm nervous because it is our first show but I'm confident. All the boxers have trained hard so it's time to show their skills and hopefully they all get victories."

"We've been going for three years now and we travel all over going to other shows and it is about time we put our own one."

"It's great that Billy comes down. He's our patron and he's a busy man but he loves coming here and when he speaks all the kids listen."

The host fighters will be up against opponents from clubs from Cornwall, Marston and Stevenage at the sold out show on Friday, at Stopsley Working Mens' Club. Included on the card are Niall Curry, Josh Goodwin and Jahid Mumin, who are all set for their first ever fights.

Kissock not on radar of Luton boss

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

james.cunliffe@bedsonsunday.com

GARY Brabin has batted away more rumours about players linked in and out of Luton Town.

Earlier this week the manager said his number one priority was to speak with his out of contract stars before he dipped his toe in the transfer market.

Though he said that is still the case he insisted it would be foolish not to keep tabs on the movers and shakers this summer.

He said: "I'm still in the process of speaking to [Luton] players and I have spoken to most of the group. The next step is still to nail down those players who are out of contract."

On possible new recruits, the Hatters boss said: "My job is to identify who is available first and foremost and I have to be looking at other options should we lose players in certain positions."

"I do have my finger on the button and at the moment it is a 24/7 job."

Reports out of Brabin's old club Southport have suggested that Town are interested in 21-year-old midfielder John Paul Kissock, but Brabin denied it was the case and suggested that players are being linked with him due to previous connections.

"Whatever has been written about Kissock it has not come through me," he said.

"He is someone I know and he was at Everton as a young kid but whoever is coming up with these things is putting two and two together and coming up with five."

"People always have opinions but it seems that all the names that I'm linked with at the moment are people from my past."

"When there are free agents and players looking for other clubs then that is going to happen."

Key to Hatters fans would be other clubs' interest in Brabin's players and speculation has again emerged regarding Keith Keane as a target of Charlton.

It is a link that was whispered last summer but this year some rumours have suggested that the Addicks are interested in both Keane and Jake Howells.

Millwall is another club's name that has been doing the rounds for the former – all of which is news to Brabin.

"No-one has come through the club for those players," he said.

Selector stumped over board's call to exclude Sneath

CRICKET

BEDFORDSHIRE need to beat Herefordshire by a mammoth margin at Eastnor today to go through to the quarter finals of the MCCA Trophy.

Herefordshire have already qualified having won all their three games so far, but it is not inconceivable that three counties could finish on four points, in which case run rate will decide who gets second place in the group.

Unfortunately Bedfordshire are lagging behind in this area following defeat by bottom of the table Dorset at Dunstable last Sunday.

Bedfordshire were handicapped in that game by the late withdrawal of experienced quickie Will Sneath whose bowling would have been ideally suited to the Dunstable wicket. The Amptill CC man had to pull out because he was required by the Bedfordshire Cricket Board, his employers, to go with the county under-12 side.

He returns today but Pip August, the Bedfordshire chairman of selectors, is still upset at the board's refusal to release him last week.

He said: "The person who usually helps out with the under-12s found himself double booked and Sneath was told he had to stand in."

"I find the board's attitude amazing. You can't tell me they couldn't have found someone else to go with the team. One of the fathers could have done it. Does the Bedfordshire Cricket Board really consider an under-12 friendly match more important than a cup competition in which the full county side is playing?"

"We have been criticised in the past for not playing enough Bedfordshire-born players, but it doesn't help when we are not given the support of the Bedfordshire Cricket Board," he said.

August is also unhappy with Northamptonshire's refusal to allow Dunstable-born Rob Keogh to play either last week or today. Keogh has been suffering from a back injury, but he has played for the Northamptonshire Academy in the Northamptonshire League for the last two Saturdays.

"I think Northamptonshire should consider what is in the best interests of the development of the player," he said. "If they think he is only fit enough to play one game a week at the moment, surely it would be better for him to play in a highly competitive Minor Counties match rather than a run-of-the-mill club fixture."

August has no complaints about the absence of George Thurstance and Dan Bendon today.

"They are playing in a competitive match for Cardiff University and it is only right that the university should have first call," he said.

Bedford School batsman James Kettleborough returns to the side today, but with Thurstance and Keogh missing, Bedfordshire are having to play another specialist bowler in Chris Esh which means that the tail looks a little long.

The Bedfordshire batting was disappointing last weekend. Chasing Dorset's total of 254-7, Bedfordshire were all out for 222.

One Bedfordshire player to come out of the match with his reputation enhanced though, was 19-year-old Martin Weightman who followed up a fine bowling spell which brought figures of 3-43 with a superb innings of 73.

Today's side is: Oliver Claydon, Dan Simpson, James Kettleborough, Steve Stubbings, Andy Reynoldson, Martin Weightman, George Arblaster, Chris Esh, Colin Griggs, Will Sneath, Andy McGarry.

Twitter is not my cup of tea, says Brabin

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

james.cunliffe@bedsonsunday.com

IN the wake of revelations about footballers and super injunctions on Twitter, Luton Town manager Gary Brabin has admitted that the popularity of the online phenomenon is all 'a bit strange'.

It won't have made the Ten O'Clock News but Hatters duo Adam Newton and Lloyd Owusu (pictured) this week announced to the world via the social networking site that they will not have their contracts renewed.

However, the players are still employed by Luton until the end of the month and on whether he minded his players using the website, Brabin said: "I don't know much about it and to be honest, it's not my cup of tea."

"I wouldn't want to wake up in the morning and advertise to the world what I'd done or what I was going to do."

"As long as it doesn't conflict with their job or the club they can write what they like, it's up to them."

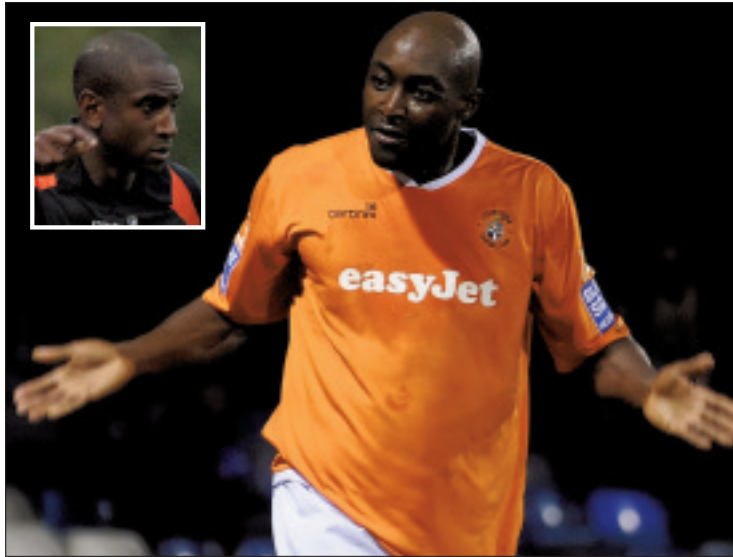

"I know Twitter is all over the news but I think people read into it too much."

"It does seem like there's no control over it whether the things on there are true or false, I don't know."

"I find it all a bit strange."

Despite both players being in their 30s Brabin said the call was nothing to do with their ages.

"I'll go for youth when I can but you can never rule out experience," he said. "In terms of Lloyd, we needed to move on a little bit, no disrespect to him."

RELEASED: Lloyd Owusu and Adam Newton (inset)

"He never featured in what we wanted to do so it was a case of trying to lighten the load."

"With Adam Newton, I found it really hard. He is one of the nicest blokes you could possibly want to meet in football so it was a tough decision."

"I hope he gets sorted out with another club soon and I think he respects the decision."

Earl: Boxing's like a drug, I need my fix

BOXING

"I'M BUZZING" – that was the reaction of Graham Earl after a rematch of his epic 2007 fight against Australian Michael Katsidis moved a step closer to becoming a reality with the pair agreeing verbal terms.

Last week, the Lutonian former WBU lightweight champion announced he was to come out of retirement for the fight which he has spent four years chasing.

Contracts on the clash are expected to be exchanged in the next few days for the duo to do battle Down Under in Queensland, in August, in either the Clive Berghofer Stadium in Katsidis' home town of Toowoomba, the Brisbane Entertainment Centre or the Gold Coast Convention Centre.

Their first encounter at London's Wembley Arena for the WBO interim lightweight title was widely regarded as the fight of the year and both men were floored in an all-action bout which Katsidis won on a fifth-round stoppage.

Earl said: "I'm buzzing and I've got a big smile on my face. I can't wait to get back into the old routine."

The former British and Commonwealth champion, nicknamed the Duke, last fought in a points win over Karl Taylor two years ago before announcing the end of his boxing career.

Asked about why he wanted to make a return, the 32-year-old said: "I'm doing this for no-one else but myself. "I'm not doing it for my fans or for money. I need it because it is like a drug and I need my fix."

"I want revenge and I want to prove a lot of armchair boxing pundits wrong because I've never been given the recognition I deserve. But the main thing is I've wanted another crack at Katsidis for four years."

"I'm going to train really hard and give it 100 per cent so I've got no excuses. If I get beaten it will be because he is the better man, but I intend to step off that plane afterwards with a big smile on my face."

Katsidis said: "Graham Earl is one tough man, it will definitely be a war and I love a war. When we met in 2007, we exchanged a lot of punches. He went down, I went down. It will be on again. I will have to be in my best shape for this battle. From the day we embraced each other and agreed for a rematch, he chased me and now I will honour my commitment to Graham Earl and give him the rematch he has been seeking."
